Mud Flap & Wheel Kit

A little known fact is that John Boulton Brooks is not only a pioneer in saddle design and manufacture, but also a forerunner in the development of many other products for bicycles, motorcycles and cars.

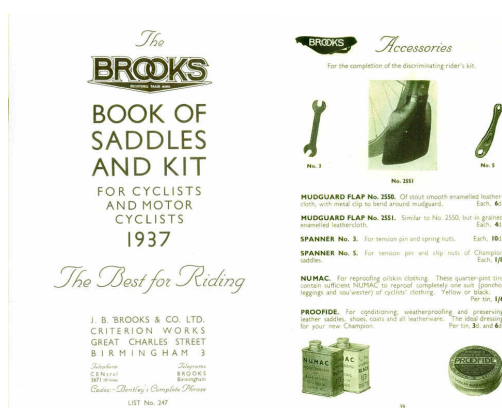

Catalogues dating back to the early 1900's, illustrate that Brooks product lines included leather and tweed luggage bags, the designs of which have been replicated ever since, testament to their design and simplicity of use. Original models often feature in auctions, commanding a hefty price-tag.

At Brooks we have studied the annals of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, researched bicycle museums and attended meetings, with historical collectors, to ensure that the spirit of our forefather lives on. With this in mind we have recreated a number of original products for the joy of today's cyclist.

The new Brooks Mud Flap is inspired by the product first featured in 1937 catalogue. Back at that time, cycling was certainly more common for transportation than for leisure. Little details like a mud flap certainly made cycling more pleasant during rainy days.

Nowadays mud flaps have almost lost their function, because of the better construction of fenders, mud guards and tyres which offer higher protection against the water coming up from the wheels.

A Brooks leather mudguard flap though can still make the difference when it comes to the little details which make a bicycle look more elegant.

J.B. Brooks and Co Ltd. was also making repair sets of tools for motorcycles and bicycle. The new Brooks Wheel Kit is a set of tools including all the necessary to take care of your bicycle's wheels:

3 Tyre Levers made of chromium coated carbon steel with spoke locating groove;
1 Spoke Wrench made of titanium coated stainless steel (dual size: 3.3 and 3.4 mm).

Suggested retail prices: Mud Flap 19 € and Wheel Kit 12,50 €.
